The Development Strategy of New Uzbekistan for 2022-2026 was approved by Decree No. 60 of the President of the Republic of Uzbekistan dated January 28, 2022.

This document aims to achieve 100 goals within the framework of 7 priority areas of development of Uzbekistan in the next 5 years and includes 398 measures to be implemented in 2022.

The Development Strategy of New Uzbekistan for 2022-2026 envisages the following seven priority directions:

- building a people-friendly state by increasing human dignity and further developing a free civil society;
- making the principles of justice and the rule of law the most basic and necessary condition for development in our country;
- rapid development of the national economy and ensuring high growth rates;
- fair social policy, development of human capital;
- ensuring spiritual development and bringing the industry to a new level;
- approach universal problems based on national interests;

Conducting a fair social policy, developing human capital - being considered the fourth priority of the Development Strategy, working directly with young people in this direction, protecting their legitimate interests and providing comprehensive support, raising their political, legal consciousness and culture, active involvement in political processes, support and encouragement of talented and talented young people, and further improvement of entrepreneurship development among young people.

In particular, the 70th goal of the fourth priority direction is called "Further improvement of the state policy on youth", and the following tasks are expected to be implemented in order to achieve its goals:

first, to ensure the rights, freedoms and legal interests of young people:

In particular, during the past period, at the 73rd session of the United Nations General Assembly held in December 2018, a resolution on "Enlightenment and religious tolerance" was adopted at the initiative of Uzbekistan. Uzbekistan put forward the initiative to develop the United Nations International Convention on the Rights of Youth.

In 2019, the 6-year seminar of the Independent Standing Commission on Human Rights of the Organization of Islamic Cooperation was held in Tashkent, and based on its results, the Tashkent Declaration "On the Rights of Youth" was adopted.

In order to involve young people in socio-political life, as well as to define practical measures to bring up a spiritually and physically mature generation, the Cabinet of Ministers decision No. 23 of January 18, 2021 approved the Concept of developing the state policy on youth in Uzbekistan until 2025. According to the concept, taking into account the forecasts of the socio-economic development of the country in 2021-2025, it is envisaged to improve the legal framework aimed at protecting the legal rights and interests of young people [2]; secondly, to preserve the life and health of young people, to improve the conditions for them to use qualified medical services, to increase medical literacy among young people and to strengthen a healthy lifestyle:

various infectious and chronic diseases, premature deaths, addiction to drugs, alcohol and tobacco products due to the incomplete formation of concepts about reproductive health, proper nutrition and hygiene rules, healthy lifestyle in young people, negative situations such as consumption of psychotropic substances, as a result of marriages between close relatives, the nation's gene pool is disturbed, and children with birth defects are still being born.

Of course, in order to prevent these negative situations, first of all, promotion activities on the observance of medical culture, in particular, personal hygiene, correct and rational nutrition among young people, as well as the possibilities of quality health care system of young people it is necessary to strengthen the cooperation of industry organizations in ensuring its use.

In this regard, it is necessary to develop targeted support services for the mental health of young people, to ensure that quality information is provided to young people about reproductive health, their rights in medical matters, to prevent young people from getting used to drugs, alcohol and tobacco products, and consuming psychotropic substances. Also, it is necessary to improve the gene pool of the nation, improve medical culture in the family, create favorable conditions for the birth of a healthy generation, and prevent marriages between close relatives;

thirdly, to help young people to develop spiritually, intellectually, physically and morally:

Article 5 of the Law of the Republic of Uzbekistan "On State Policy Regarding Youth" defines helping young people to develop spiritually, intellectually, physically and morally as one of the main directions of state policy regarding youth in Uzbekistan [3].

In this regard, it is appropriate to hold various spiritual, intellectual and legal promotion activities among young people, as well as various spiritual and cultural entertainment contests;

fourthly, to ensure open and high-quality education for young people, to ensure that young people receive excellent education at all stages of education, to create conditions for the development of inclusive education in the regions:

providing open and high-quality education for young people, bringing them up with high morals and discipline, getting high-quality and excellent education and growing up in the spirit of patriotism is the key to the country's economic and political development. It is the basis of social stability and success.

Today, it is necessary for young people to be active, creative and inquisitive in every field, to lay a solid foundation for tomorrow's future from today. Educating the representatives of the new generation in the spirit of loyalty to the Motherland, respect for national traditions and values, ensuring their employment, protecting their rights and interests, implementing priority tasks such as education, intellectual level, intellectual potential, morals, ingenuity, mobility and enthusiasm of young people, readiness for changes determines the general level of development of the society;

fifthly, on employment of young people and creation of conditions for their employment:

President of the Republic of Uzbekistan Shavkat Mirziyoyev at the video selector meeting on measures to ensure youth employment and meaningful organization of free time said "Today, the number of young people under 30 years old in our republic has exceeded 18 million. This means 55% of the population of our country. Currently, the unemployment rate among young people is 17% or 844,000 people [4].

As a result, based on the decision No. 132 of the Cabinet of Ministers of the Republic of Uzbekistan dated March 11, 2021 "On additional measures for social support of young people", the system of working with young people was brought to a new level support fund for young people included in the "Youth Register" in order to determine the permanent financial resources and the procedure for their use, to provide them with socio-legal and psychological support, vocational training and employment provision coat of arms was established [5].

"Youth register" includes unemployed young people aged 18 to 30 (as a rule, 30 to 31) who need social protection, psychological support and economic support category is included.

The exact amount of one-time financial support for young people in difficult financial situation is determined to be paid in accordance with the decision of the Board of Trustees of the youth support fund included in the "Youth Register" in the amount of up to 4 times the minimum wage, taking into account the complexity of the young person's life situation;

sixthly, to educate young people as a person with patriotism, sense of citizenship, tolerance, respect for laws, national and universal values, able to resist harmful influences and currents, with firm beliefs and views on life:

Education of young people with a sense of citizenship, tolerance, respect for laws, national and universal values, who can resist harmful influences and currents, and who have strong beliefs and views on life will never lose its relevance and importance for all of us. This topical issue is a continuous process, which consists of a complex of interrelated political-legal, socio-economic, ideological-ideological, cultural-educational activities.

One of the main goals should be to strengthen the ideological immunity of young people, to educate them to resist various harmful influences and currents, to protect them from various foreign ideas and threats,

As we all know, there are cases of terrorist organizations using some Telegram messengers as a means of communication and propaganda. According to the information provided on the Internet, the representatives of the Belgian law enforcement agencies showed that the terrorists influence young people mainly using messengers.
